opens the year with a finely illustrated number, and some unusually interesting and profitable articles for all who like or raise plants and flowers, or who enjoy the garden with all its beautiful objects. The subject of Apartment plants is presented with illustrations and critical suggestions and directions.

The Century Plant is the subject of mother illustrated article, also of some otes showing the character of this plant under favorable come tions, in the open ground, in a mild cl.mate. Other ilustrated articles refer to flowering plants, one to the method of rectifying the growth of a one sided tree, and of repairing certain injuries of trees. Under the title of "Nitrogin," an account is given of a new microbic fertilizer "made in Germany," and sent out into the trade to be disposed of to farmers and gardeners to apply to the soil to increase its fertility. Progressive cultivators should read it. Numerous other gardening topics are treated. A design and des cription is given of a medium cost vil lage dwelling. Some poetry is supplied for those sentimentally inclined, as also other good things that cannot here be mentioned.

A Lesson in Gambling. The receipts from the gambling hell at Monte Carlo for the past fiscal year were $2,970,000, the expenses being $1,-200 000, of which the Prince of Monaco got $400,000. Among the items of expense was one of $2,000 for the prevention of suicide, and another of $20,000 for travel money to enable unfortunates who lost their all to reach their homes. The enormous profits of nearly $2,000, 000 are eloquent of the fleecing that goes on at this famous resort. No one "breaks the bank" save in a concert hall song, and those who win simply win at the expense of their fellow players. Thirty five suicides in a year tell the tale of despair that attends this form of amusement, and taken in conjunction with the gross profits of the concern preach a telling homily against gambling. - Philadelphia Press.
